coker kiln in Orzegow (5019W/2353N). He stated that it was an old installation located northwest of the town on more than a square kilometer of grounds.

The premises were guarded by industrial guards and could not be entered without a pass. Drivers were restricted to the loading ramp. At that time there were over one hundred coke ovens - all old. There were two railroad sidings, one regular gauge and one narrow gauge. Most of the coke was distributed locally or sent to Stalinozra (SOLON/ROLEN).
